

Prof. Kenji Yamaji

Dr. Kenji Yamaji, professor emeritus of the University of Tokyo, is Director-General of the Research Institute of Innovative Technology for the Earth (RITE). Dr. Yamaji is also a member of the Science Council of Japan, president of the Japan Society of Energy and Resources, and vice-president of the Japan Institute of Energy. Dr. Yamaji obtained BS, MS, and PhD in nuclear engineering from the University of Tokyo in 1972, 1974, and 1977 respectively. In the earlier part of his career, Dr. Yamaji was extensively involved in the analysis of energy technology assessment, mainly at the Central Research Institute of Electric Power Industry (CRIEPI) in Japan. He has published more than 60 books on energy systems as well as many research papers. Dr. Yamaji contributed to the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) as a lead author for the 3rd and 4th Assessment Reports. In addition, he sits on many advisory bodies relating to energy and environmental policy for the Japanese government.